

To whom it may concern,

"1 Decembrie 1918" University of Alba Iulia - Faculty of Law and Social Sciences and Wolters Kluwer Romania are organizing the International Conference "Business Law, Technologies and Artificial Intelligence", second edition, from 11 to 12 of April 2024.

The conference will take place online on the Wolters Kluwer Romania website, via the Zoom application.

Given the interest shown by the participants at the last year's edition for its theme and the quality of the scientific papers presented, the organisers aim to make this conference a landmark among scientific events on new technologies and on the role of innovation and artificial intelligence on national and international business environment.

The event is open to theoreticians and practitioners with expertise in law, economics and new technologies, businesspeople, as well as representatives of central and local government.

In the hope that this conference will be a scientific event that you will remember for this spring' agenda, we kindly ask you to send us, by e-mail, at raul.hodos.@uab.ro, by 9th of April 2024, your affiliation, the title of your presentation, its abstract and keywords, both in Romanian and English, as well as your choice of the day on which you would like to present your paper on this occasion.

Also, the presentations from this scientific event will be published in the next volume of the Romanian Journal of Business Law (journal indexed in the international databases ISIndexing, EBSCO, ProQuest, HeinOnline, ERIH PLUS), which will be dedicated to the conference' papers.

In this regard, we kindly ask you to send us your articles via e-mail to mihaela.mocanu@cmvlaw.ro by 3rd of June 2024, and the accepted papers will be published in the event's issue of the journal.
